

Sergio Scariolo Spain Pick and Roll

Spain National Team PNR Numbers = 20% driver coming off pick finishes it, 20% for the roller or popper, 60% for one of the other 3 perimeter players reacting to defensive tags and rotations.

This use to be a lot higher for the driver and roller but the numbers have now changed!

When looking at PNR, problem they were looking to identify was how can we create more space for the driver and roller? On the two side it's easier for the defense to contain the PNR because they can tag and then X out. The concept came when in a game, the 5 man got accidentally stuck in the middle and fell over, taking out x4 as 4 was rolling! This brought to life the Spain PNR concept!

During Spain PNR, ball handled should look to pause (hesi) or KOB to create time with the back-screen happening and read the situation.

Spain gives a great opportunity to reject with the concern over the back-screen and lots of space to get downhill.

"If you want to develop players, your system has to align with this where everyone is getting touches and feeling apart of the offense."
